

VON PAPEN TO BE SHORN OF EVERY POWER

Will Remain as Saar Commissioner; Von Hindenburg Plea

By The Associated Press
Berlin, July 5.—Franz von Papen, the burr under the saddle of the Nazi regime, will be stripped of the vice chancellorship, the foreign department of the Nazi party indicated today, but he will be permitted to remain in the cabinet as Saar commissioner.

With the puzzling problem of vice chancellor's disposition thus for the first time somewhat clarified, reports indicating that the Nazis have reopened a vigorous anti-Jewish campaign in provincial centers claimed major attention.

Along with these reports were rumors that Cardinal Michael Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, was being held prisoner.

These reports shared with others less well substantiated of a growing unrest and dissatisfaction outside the capital, pointing to dissension and fear.

Vice Chancellor von Papen's office, next to that of Hitler, was stripped of its papers and furnishings from top to bottom, and all his belongings taken to his home, where his secretary said his office henceforth will be.

Von Papen Home Raided
The Associated Press learned from Frau von Papen that their home, too, was raided again last night.

Von Papen himself declined to be interviewed, saying his position would not be definitely fixed until after discussions with the chancellor.

Rudolph Hess, minister without portfolio in the Nazi cabinet, rather than Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Prussian premier, is now being mentioned in some party circles as a possibility for vice chancellor.

Hitler was understood to feel that it would be better for the party if Hess, who holds Hitler's power of attorney in all party matters, should become vice chancellor.

Executions Ended
A Nazi spokesman stated definitely today that the executions following Saturday's climactic upset are definitely over with, but it was regarded as fairly certain that the promised official list of those dead, said to number "under fifty" will never be published.

The rumor of Cardinal Faulhaber's being held prisoner in Munich was disquieting to all party circles throughout the Reich. He has been a severe critic of the Nazi regime. An attempt was made last January to assassinate him.

News of the slaying of four persons in Silesia "for attempting to escape while being transported" July 2 was one of the strongest indications of anti-Jewish violence.

Hundreds of persons were reported to be fleeing from Germany.

Although the capital seemed to be recovering its equilibrium from the "second revolution," correspondents in provincial sections appeared unable to get through dispatches and disquiet was felt over conditions outside Berlin.

Congress of Nazis
Delegates from throughout Germany were assembling at the little town of Flensburg, in Schleswig-Holstein, for the congress of Nazi leaders of all districts.

Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, and Adolf Wagner, Bavarian Nazi leader who took the first steps to quell the revolt, had already arrived early today and were awaiting Chancellor Hitler.

Leaders were expected to seek some means of coping with the crisis created by the widespread revolt in storm troop ranks—a revolt which has apparently reached greater proportions than the government allowed to be generally known.

Conference last night between Vice Chancellor von Papen, broken representative of the "Old Germany," and Hitler, ambitious standard bearer of the third Reich, was expected to have far-reaching results.

Interview Secret
Von Papen, through the intercession of President von Hindenburg, is to remain in the cabinet but will go on sick leave.

What he and Hitler, the latter fresh from an interview with von Hindenburg, talked about was not divulged today. But it was generally believed von Papen's possibly permanent leave of absence from office shared importance with the troubled internal situation and the

Fraternal Organizations, Y. M. C. A. to Press Claims Their Properties in Chicago Exempt from Taxation

Chicago, July 5.—(AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court will be called upon to decide whether properties of fraternal organizations and of the Y. M. C. A. are exempt from taxation.

This was announced yesterday by members of the state tax commission who said the Scottish Rite Cathedral Association has filed notice of an appeal from the commission's ruling that the property is taxable.

The commission had held the association was not used exclusively for religious, benevolent, philosophical, educational, or charitable purposes, and was not entitled to exemption.

The association was first placed on the tax rolls in 1931. Two Y. M. C. A. hotel properties were placed on the 1932 rolls for the first time since their exemption charter was granted 63 years ago.

FIFTH OF GANG OF BANK THUGS NOW IN CUSTODY

Woodward, the Last Woolbridge Bandit, Held in Rockford

St. Paul, July 5.—(AP)—Melvin Passolt, chief of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, said today he had been informed of the arrest in Rockford, Ill., of Ronald Woodward, fifth and last member of the Cyril Woolbridge gang which robbed a number of Minnesota and South Dakota banks and the Wahpeton, N. D., National Guard armory.

Passolt said Woodward, who gave his name to police as Carl Lopitz, had been identified through a crime bureau circular as one of Woolbridge's two accomplices in the $4,558 holdup of the Union State bank of Sauk Rapids, Minn. Woodward was sent from Illinois to St. Joseph, Mich., for investigation in connection with a store robbery there.

Woolbridge and three other accomplices are serving prison terms, the alleged ringleader himself in Leavenworth for the Wahpeton armory robbery. Serving in the Stillwater, Minn. state prison for bank robberies with Woolbridge are Ben Callion; Fred Burkowski; St. Cloud, Minn., and Ernest Vanderhoef, Mohall, N. D.

Passolt said he would seek to have Woodward returned here for prosecution in connection with the Sauk Rapids bank holdup.

12-Year-Old Boy is Believed Kidnaped at Bloomington, Ind.

Bloomington, Ind., July 5.—(AP)—Local and state police today investigated the report of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson that their 12-year-old son, Junior, had been kidnaped.

Playmates of young Johnson, son of a federal relief worker, reported Junior was picked up by a man at 8:30 o'clock this morning by a man whose automobile, a sedan, bore a sign indicating he was an itinerant stove mender.

The boys first said the man warned them they would "never see Junior again" but police upon further investigation discredited the report. Officers said young Johnson's playmates later related the man had asked one of them to help him in his work and promised him "a big good day" he would give him fifty cents.

Police searched south of Bloomington after they learned the car was headed in that direction.

MILITIA READY TO MARCH ONTO 'FRISCO DOCKS

Serious Rioting Has Broken Out Along the Waterfront

BULLETIN

Newark, N. J., July 5.—(AP)—City Clerk Harry Reichenstein today rejected the application of Violet Hilton, Siamese twin, for a marriage license because the answers to the usual routine questions of the city marriage bureau today refused a marriage license to one of the much publicized "Siamese twins."

The whole thing shattered the aplomb of Chief Clerk Julius Brosen, usually iron-nerved about marriage matters, and he threw up his hands in despair after listening to plural answers to singular questions.

The question of how many people were getting married was handed to the city corporation counsel's office.

In no time at all, back came the ruling: "No license." No explanation of the processes of legal reasoning accompanied the decision. It was just "no."

Off to New Jersey
The quest for a license is to be taken to New Jersey, where the twins—joined together since birth—hope for better luck.

The twins—Violet and Daisy Hilton, 26 years old—wanted to marry, or rather—that is to say, Violet wanted to marry—what is meant is, that Violet and Daisy wanted to marry....

The license was to have been taken out in Violet's name, to simplify things.

There was only one prospective bridegroom named—Maurice L. Lambert, 29-year-old orchestra leader, who lives at the same Central Park West apartment building as the twins.

Daisy Has Fiance
Daisy said she already had a fiance—Harry Mason, a pugilist, who, she added, is at present in England.

They announced, before Clerk Brosen bogged down in the intricacies, that they intended to have Violet and Lambert married at once by Deputy City Clerk Philip A. Hines.

Lambert echoed their sentiments. He said he was a widower, born in Western Port, Md., the son of William J. Lambert.

The twins gave Violet's occupation as an actress; said they are four feet 11 inches tall weigh 196 pounds and are joined physically at the hips.

Tells of Romance
While waiting for the bemused officials to make up their minds Violet told newspapermen she first met her prospective husband when he joined the twins' vaudeville troupe a year ago as musical director.

Daisy broke in to say she too was to be married as soon as her fiance was able to enter this country. She hoped it would be within the next six months.

The hoped-to-be wedding party with Violet and Daisy included Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lyon co-performers with the twins in vaudeville.

Dillinger Sought in St. Louis Area Following Holdup

St. Louis, July 5.—(AP)—Police here were asked to look for three men they were told might be John Dillinger, "Baby Face" Nelson and John Hamilton after a woman was beaten and robbed on a highway near Highland, Ill.

Police last night were told the men were in a coach with an Illinois license and thought to be headed toward St. Louis. It was said guns were carried in the car without apparent attempt at concealment.

The woman, who said her name was Day and her home Amarillo, Texas, was in a dazed condition and under a doctor's care at Highland. She was quoted by the chief of the Highland police as saying several men beat her, robbed her of $50 and two rings and left her lying in the road.

Dixonites spent one of the sanest Fourth in history yesterday, there being no serious accidents of any kind reported, with picnics being the main diversion for most families. The largest crowd of years thronged Lowell Park, the horse races at Oregon drew a crowd which filled the grandstand and overflowed into the infield, and the auto races at Sterling were well attended, many Dixonites being in attendance at each place.

Hazel Louise, nine-year-old daughter of Lloyd Emmert, was the victim of the only reported accident in Dixon. About noon yesterday while she was exploding firecrackers under a can when part of the can flew up after one explosion, cutting a deep gash in her forehead just above her eye. Six stitches were required to close the wound. The sight of the eye, however, was not impaired.

176 DEATHS IN NATION
America celebrated its 158th birthday anniversary in the sanest manner in recent years, with the lowest number of deaths since 1929.

A total of 176 men, women and children gave up their lives on the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, a drop of one from last year and only about one-third of the number who perished in 1931.

The sharpest decrease was in the number who died as a result of the use of fireworks. Only three persons perished from this cause, as compared with seven in 1933. A five-year-old Chinook, Mont., girl was one of the victims. Another was a Negro, killed in Minneapolis when a rocket skipped over the ground and struck her in the chest as she stood amid a crowd of celebrators. At Canton, Okla., a wild rocket, part of a municipal fireworks display, killed Calvin Hight, 23, of Fairview last night and injured several others in the crowd, none seriously.

Campaign Gains
This campaign for a "safe and sane" fourth, started in 1907 by the late James Keeley, then an editor of a Chicago newspaper, appeared to be gaining ground.

Hundreds of persons, however, were treated for minor injuries from fireworks, among them 2,200 in New York City.

Keeley started his movement, as he sat at the bedside of his sick daughter who was disturbed by the barrage of shots that resounded around her room.

Drowning was the principal cause of yesterday's fatalities, with a total of 70. Automobiles claimed 69 and for the first time since 1931 were responsible for fewer deaths than the bodies of water to which the holiday crowds flocked for relief from the heat.

Other Causes
Other causes accounted for 34 deaths, including five burned to death in the wreckage of an airplane at St. Ansagar, Iowa; three prisoners crushed to death in the collapse of a grand stand at the Welfare Island penitentiary in New York; the death of a racing driver at York, Pa., and that of a parachute jumper at Streator, Ill.

Innocent Purchasers of Stolen Cars Lose Their Vehicles Today

Chicago, July 5.—(AP)—Armed with a customer's list seized in the headquarters of an alleged automobile theft ring, police yesterday took 25 stolen cars from innocent purchasers.

Cars recovered, and police said more were being sought, had been sold doctors, teachers and others, and contained parts from as many as six different machines.

Nine men were taken into custody, and Sgt. Fred O'Day, in charge of the automobile detail squad, said the gang had been in operation for a year and a half and besides stealing cars to be sold, ran a lucrative repair business, stealing cars to supply the parts.

Administration is Attacked by Head Holiday Association

Belleville, Ill., July 5.—(AP)—Charges that the administration has tried to force the American people to give up representative government to communism or a dictatorship were made here by Milo Reno of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the Farmers' Holiday Association, in a talk yesterday.

Reno spoke at a state meeting of the Progressive Miners of America, attended by about 10,000 persons. Claude Percy of Gillespie, Ill., state president of the Progressives, also spoke.

Woman Plotter of Murder Has Lost Her Plea

Mrs. Anna Antonio and Two Male Slayings to Die Next Week

Albany, N. Y., July 5.—(AP)—County Judge Earl H. Gallup today denied a motion for a new trial for Mrs. Anna Antonio, mother of three children held in the death house at Sing Sing prison after conviction with two men of slaying her husband two years ago. The three are scheduled to die the week of July 9.

Mrs. Antonio and the two men, Vincent Saetta and Sam Fanci, twice had been given last minute reprieves by Governor Lehman on the nights they were scheduled to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing.

A statement by Saetta on the night of June 28, one hour before the trio was scheduled to pay with their lives for the insurance slaying of Salvatore Antonio, caused Governor Lehman to stay the execution 24 hours. Saetta made another statement the next night, exonerating Mrs. Antonio of any blame in the slaying which the state, at the trial in Albany county court, contended she plotted.

Later Saetta made a statement that District Attorney John T. Delaney had "double crossed" his (Saetta's) family on a promise he would be given a commutation of sentence.

The district attorney, in arguing against the new trial motion of Daniel H. Prior, Mrs. Antonio's counsel, declared Saetta's statements were made solely to gain a delay for himself and possibly to influence the Governor to delay the execution until a new trial was granted.

Three of Would-be Fugitives Sent to Chester Hospital

William Page, John Carter, and Frank Kempf, three of the five state hospital wards who had been transferred to the county jail, were taken to the state hospital for the criminally insane at Chester Tuesday by state hospital guards.

The other two of the quintet, Wilbur Williams and Charles Chanes, are still in the county jail awaiting the action of state authorities.

The five were said to have planned an escape from the state hospital here, and when officers at that institution learned of their plans, they were transferred to the county jail. The five attempted to break out of the county jail by prying sheets of steel loose from the ceiling, according to Sheriff Fred Richardson.

KILLER OF EARL GENTRY SAYS HE DID GOOD DEED

Killed Him Because He Annoyed "Sunshine Lady," He Says

Jefferson, Wis., July 5—(AP)—Carl Church, held as the slayer of Earl Gentry, erstwhile bodyguard to D. C. Stephenson, former Indiana Ku Klux Klan leader, confessed the crime, the authorities said today shortly after he was arrested at Port Atkinson, near here. Sheriff Joseph T. Lange and Port Atkinson officers caught Church last night as he lay asleep in a viney.

"I am not sorry in the least for the act I committed as I feel that I did a good deed for society when I killed Earl Gentry," Church, an itinerant painter also known as George (Slim) King, was quoted by Sheriff Lange as saying.

The "Sunshine Lady"

He committed the act, he said, because Mrs. Carrie Gill, 59-year-old widow, accused of plotting with Church to bring about Gentry's death, had been abused by Gentry and because "she was kind to me when I was sick." Mrs. Gill, whose late husband was a well to do tavern keeper, is being held for first degree murder and admitted, the investigators said, that she gave Church $50 to slay Gentry.

She is known locally as the "Sunshine Lady" because of her acts of charity and pleasant temperament.

Gentry's body with a bullet wound in his head, was found last Sunday slumped in his automobile which had been parked near the Gill residence, where he had made his home for eight years.

Mrs. Gill, District Attorney H. M. Dakin said, replied when asked why she wanted Gentry killed:

"The main reason was that he made my life miserable and gave me more heartaches than any woman ever had in the world. He beat me and threatened my life."

In one portion of Church's confession, the Sheriff pointed out, Church and Mrs. Gill agreed to share responsibility in doing away with Gentry.

GERMANY LOOKS BACK IN FORLORN HOPE.

A dictatorship, in this modern world, is an effect rather than a cause. Therefore, the news that the seamless fabric of Hitlerism is developing a split right down the middle, and that German monarchists are looking forward hopefully to a Hohenzollern restoration, is important for the light that it throws on the past rather than for what it may foretell of the future.

For while we cannot tell what a Hohenzollern restoration would do to Germany—any more than we can chart the future of the nation under Hitlerism, if the Nazis remain in power—the mere fact that monarchist sentiment is reviving tells a lot about the sad things that have happened in Germany since the war.

Go back, for a moment, to the fall of 1918, and remember what took place.

Germany had lost the war. Her allies had crumpled up, her armies had been pushed back, her resources were gone, the endurance of her people was at an end.

It was too plain for anyone to miss that a gigantic series of blunders on the part of the government had, first, got the nation into the war, and secondly had made winning of the war impossible.

Then, to cap the climax, Wilhelm II skipped out, flitting across the borders by night and leaving subordinates to face the music.

The monarchy had discredited itself, by revealing its own incompetence and weakness, about as thoroughly as was humanly possible.

So Germany turned to democracy, or to a semblance of it, and tried to get along. The venture wasn't very successful. The heritage of the war was a crushing burden even for the victorious countries to carry; for a nation which had lost everything, it became absolutely intolerable.

Ruhr invasions, inflation, industrial crises, flights of capital followed one another in dreary succession.

At last the democratic government, like its monarchist predecessor, proved its inability to cope with things, and Germany turned to Hitler.

Today Hitler is having his troubles. It is reported from Berlin that the days of the Nazis are about numbered; a military dictatorship which would eventually bring Hohenzollern back to Berlin is confidently predicted.

How dreadful must Germany's lot have been, if a regime as completely discredited as the one which took to flight in 1918 can look, now, like a savior!

A LEPROUS CIVILIZATION PLANS BACTERIAL WAR.

A lot of the things that has happened in the world in the last few years are almost enough to give a thoughtful person the feeling that the human race has gone quite mad.

Nothing points quite so strongly in that direction as the things that get printed when that "next war" is up for discussion.

Glance, for example, at the article recently published in England by Wickham Steed, veteran journalist.

Mr. Steed says that disease germs and poison gas will be used against civilian populations in the next war. Elaborate plans for infecting municipal water and air supplies with bacteria have been made, he says, and large-scale epidemics are pretty apt to be a part of future combats.

In making this prediction, Mr. Steed, unfortunately, doesn't stand alone. In Richard W. Rowan's recent book, "Spies and the Next War," the same forecast is made.

Mr. Rowan even presents diagrams of the ingenious containers by which espionage agents can introduce cholera germs into foreign cities.

Reading such things, one is almost made ready to agree with those prophets of calamity who assert that modern white civilization has run its course, that European culture is about to go the way of Assyria and Egypt.

When nations prepare to throw disease germs at one another, they are ready to commit suicide on a grand scale. For disease germs do not respect international frontiers.

Plant the plague in your neighbor's back yard today and you'll have it in your own bedroom tomorrow. If the bacterio-logical offensive is to become a part of warfare, Europe faces a future compared to which the Dark Ages will seem like a period of peace, prosperity, and enlightenment.

An English novelist recently remarked that we don't say that a man who has leprosy spots on his body is a healthy man afflicted by unhealthy symptoms; we say he is a leper, and, as long as the leprosy spots remain, we class him as a very sick man, no matter how sound some of his organs may be.

The same thing, suggests this novelist, is true of a civilization. This business of enrolling bacteria as soldiers is a leprosy spot on modern civilization; and it testifies that the whole body of 20th century society is deathly sick.

Real improvement comes not from the growth of state power, but from growth of education and development of individual character among the people.—Samuel Seabury, famous New York investigator.

This city houses more nuts and long-haired fools than any other place of its size in the world.—Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva, of Zion City, Ill.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Jack and Jill went tumbling through the air, toward them Scouty flew. He shortly grabbed Jill by the hand and sat her on the ground.

And then, by quite a lucky chance, he grabbed poor Jack right by the pants, and shouted, "Are you hurt?" as all the Tines gathered 'round.

"No, I'm all right," said Jack. "but Jill has taken quite an awful spill. Run back to her and see if she is injured. Hurry, please!"

But Jill had jumped up to her feet. "The way you rescued me was neat," she shouted. "I am quite all right, except I skinned my knees."

"Now, where's our bucket? We must hike right back for water. I would like it very much if one of you kind tots would help a bit."

"I'll get the bucket, miss, for you. And I'll go fetch the water too," said Coppy. "I'm strong, and I know I can carry it."

Then, as he started up the hill, wee Windy shouted, "Wait until I join you. 'Twill be easier if both of us take part."

They filled the pail with water. Then they went back down the hill again. Both Jack and Jill said, "Thank you. Now it's time that we depart."

When they had disappeared from sight, a man raced by with all his might. Behind him was a butcher who was yelling, "Stop that thief!"

"I don't know what he did it for, but he just came and robbed my store. His name is Taffy. Catch him, please. He has some of my beef!"

Then Scouty cried, "I have some rope. With it I'll capture him, I hope." He sailed his lasso through the air. It caught on Taffy's feet.

"Pull hard," yelled Coppy. Scouty did. 'Twas fun to see of Taffy skid. In just about a second, he went tumbling to the street.

As Taffy slipped down to the ground, all of the Tines gathered 'round.

ered 'round and Scouty said, "I'm sorry, sir, but you've done something wrong."

"I lassoed you because I thought that it was time that you were caught. Don't try to get away. You can't, because my rope is strong."

"Oh, I am sorry," Taffy cried. "that I stole something. I just tried to get myself a bite to eat."

"Twas came a real loud shout. 'Twas from the butcher. He was mad! He yelled, 'Hang on to that bad lad. He's stolen from my butcher shop. I'll make him work it out.'"

"That's fair enough," said Scouty. "Gee! I think it's lucky as can be that he's let off that easy. Why, he could be sent to jail."

"Though he returns the beef, I'd say he should be punished right today. Put him to work in your shop with a scrub brush and a pail."

"A very good idea, son," the butcher said. "It shall be done. And you wee tots can have the beef for what you've done for me."

"Just build a fire, right near at hand, and cook it. It will taste just grand." "Hurray for you," yelled Duncy. "I'm as hungry as can be."

The butcher then took Taffy by the ear and said, "No, don't you try to run, 'cause I will catch you." Then they disappeared from sight.

"Wee Goldy said, 'It is too bad! I feel quite sorry for the lad, but, after all, his punishment will teach him wrong from right.'"

Soon Scouty cried, "Gee, let us start to build a fire. I'll do my part. And, when we cook our dandy beef, I'd like my portion rare."

"Now, wait a minute," Scouty said. "I see a small house, straight ahead. If someone's home, perhaps they'll let us cook this fine beef there."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: 2 Chron. 15:1-12
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 8.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The story of kings and kingdoms is a badly mottled record. Highlights of nobility are intermingled with dark and dismal passages of evil in personal character and tyrannous treatment of those over whom rulers have had power.

The record concerning the kingdoms of Israel and Judah, from which our lessons are taken, reflects only what has been true in the history of other peoples and nations and their rulers.

The Bible consistently represents good rule and righteous conduct as approved by God and as making for social welfare and blessedness among the people, and as consistently it represents evil rulers as departing from the ways and purposes of God and bringing judgment upon themselves and upon their people.

In the broad course of history, the representation of the Bible is true. Sometimes we see a people crushed and broken where some heroic leader or ruler seeks to save his nation from the tyranny of a surrounding or oppressive power; but a history of evil deeds and consequences is usually found back of the situations of distress and trouble in which nations are plunged.

God is on the side of the people. The plans and purposes of God are in harmony with all that makes for good government and human welfare.

Fortunately, in the history of nations there have never been wanting true prophets of God and friends of the people who were ready to speak out against rulers, rebuking them when they did wrong and commenting when they sought to rule with justice and righteousness.

Here in our lesson we have one of these prophets, Azariah, the son of Obed. We do not know much about him, as we do about some of the other prophets, but the lesson tells us a great deal.

He saw this land given over to idolatrous and evil practices, and he went to meet King Asa, telling him plainly what the conditions were and what was his duty; that God would be with him and give him strength if he was willing to do right.

He appealed to Asa to re-establish law and religion among the people and to save the inhabitants of the country from the conditions of insecurity and violence that confronted them on every hand.

Fortunately, Asa responded to the appeal of Azariah. He found new courage in his own heart, and he led the people into a new covenant of righteousness.

How much we need prophets like Azariah, and political leaders and civil authorities who will respond with courage and sincerity to a like appeal!

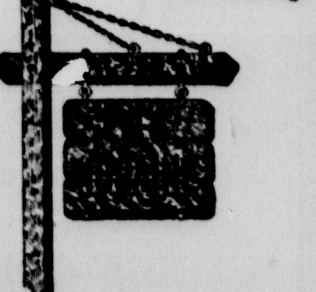

The description that Azariah gives of conditions in ancient Judah might almost stand for a portrayal of conditions in some parts of America today.

The masses of our people suffer from poverty and distress. In our cities, and even in rural places since the advent of the automobile and high-power firearms, life and property are insecure.

Desperate criminals who will stop at nothing in attaining their ends have resources of ingenuity and escape denied them in days gone by. Even the arm of the law is not sufficient to cope with these modern evils.

We need an enlightened public conscience, with prophets who can express it and who have power to inspire leaders to a new sense of their duty and their responsibility.

G. O. P. ACCEPTS NEW DEAL ISSUE CHAIRMAN SAYS

Fletcher Appeals to People to Return to Independence

Washington, July 5—(AP)—Opposition of the new deal as inconsistent with American ideals of government is to be the Republican national committee's keynote in the congressional campaign. Henry P. Fletcher, the committee's new chairman, said in a radio speech Monday eve the party accepted "the issue of the new deal."

"It is based on the proposition that the people cannot manage their own affairs and that a government bureaucracy must manage for them," he said.

"That proposition, after centuries of trial in Europe and its attempted transference to America, was repudiated and overthrown 138 years ago today. It was on July 2, 1776, that the independence resolution was adopted in Philadelphia."

Fletcher devoted much of his talk to answering President Roosevelt's report to the nation last week.

Cites Examples

The president asked, he reminded, "if we have lost any of our rights of liberty or constitutional freedom of action and choice."

"I will let the tailor, Maged, answer that (this reference was to a New Jersey tailor named Maged who was prosecuted for NRA violation) or the workers and owners of that mill in Tennessee which the Attorney General of the United States finds has not violated any law, but which is compelled to shut down because General Johnson has taken away from it a graven image, not mentioned or recognized by any law of the United States, but which by edict must be displayed to secure state and national government contracts," Fletcher added.

He concluded by urging his listeners to "revive the old American custom of reading the Declaration of Independence."

DISBURSEMENTS PROCESS TAXES VERY UNEQUAL

Not Proportionate to Collection: Heavy
Tax in Illinois

By GERALD MILLER
(Associated Press Illinois Correspondent.)

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—Into the rural districts of Illinois is pouring a never-ending torrent of federal pay checks, carrying government millions to farmers who reduced their crops in exchange for a federal fee.

Into money reservoirs of the agricultural adjustment administration is draining other millions in processing taxes to pay those farmers.

From Illinois alone has been collected $36,087,849 through April 30. Upon that same date $31,813,274 had been paid back as agricultural aid and administrative expenses. Illinois paid more processing taxes than any other state in the union.

Out of it all has grown something of a perplexing sectional problem. While merchants throughout Illinois are acknowledging the advantages of putting almost $32,000,000 spending money into the hands of farmers, many of whom haven't had a dollar to bounce across a grocer's counter for a decade the citizens of some states are asking why the benefit payments are not proportionate to the processing taxes levied.

Illinois Fortunate
Illinois has been unusually fortunate, but New York, for example, paid $31,847,946 in taxes into the AAA funds. Its farmers received only $55,806 in benefit payments. Launched under an original appropriation of $100,000,000 the AAA is one government agency which is supposed to pay its own way. More than $267,434,311 in processing taxes had been collected through April 30 and $240,396,847 paid back to the farmers. Official statistics show $185,390,511 was paid in crop curtailment benefits and $55,016,336 paid for surplus removal.

It cost the AAA $13,833,187 to render the service—a job that requires agents in every state in touch with the farmer and a vast Washington staff. There was a golden torrent of 25,000 checks sent out in one day last week.

RFC in Picture
This is not the whole picture, however. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation also figures in the foreground. Through its commodity credit corporation it has advanced $86,799,499 in loans to farmers on surplus corn at 45 cents a bushel and $61,073,846 on cotton at 10 cents a pound.

States affected by the AAA's crop adjustment program run a long path from Illinois, which received much of its processing taxes back, to Nevada which paid the lowest $120,567 and got only one-sixth of it back in benefit payments. Only Maine and Rhode Island paid taxes and received not a solitary cent.

Farm benefits in the New England group ran as low as $2,288 in New Hampshire which paid in $1,504,183.

Such western states as Oklahoma and North Dakota assessed only $2,873,533 and $860,571 respectively, received in like respect benefits amounting to $16,419,276 and $9,812,130.

And such southern states as Texas and Louisiana paid in taxes only $1,176,941 and $1,273,742 respectively and yet received in benefits $47,044,240 (the highest paid any state) and $5,005,782.

In Illinois of the total expenditures of $31,813,274 general expenditures and administrative costs totaled $249,360; rental and benefit payments $1,751,834; and removal and surplus payments $29,812,078.

It's New Way to Park Car

Here's a new idea in parking that aroused great interest in Kansas City, Mo., but isn't likely to prove popular with motorists. The car owner, hunting for his auto on a parking lot, found that the brakes had slipped, the car rolling down an incline to become wedged on end, between an arched wall and an apartment building.

Pickets Guard Closed Plants in Illinois Refinery Strike

Pickets maintained a strong guard at the Corn Products Refining Company in Pekin, Ill., despite complete closing of the plant by officials. In the strike for a closed shop and wage boosts. A large group is shown here on watch at the factory entrance, after more than 700 employees were made idle by suspension of operations.

Farmers in Brown county alone received a tobacco rental and benefit payment totaling $267.95.

Illinois Counties
The balance of the $1,751,835 paid for this purpose was devoted to wheat acreage, and farmers by counties received:

Adams $36,637; Alexander $1,578; Bond $7,095; Boone $1,361; Brown $5,334; Bureau $10,232; Calhoun $5,464; Carroll $1,288; Cass $58,902; Champaign $23,561; Christian $25,266; Clark $4,931; Clay $881; Clinton $35,580; Coles $23,168; Cook $3,446; Crawford $6,481; Cumberland $1,558; DeKalb $5,431; DeWitt $4,727; Douglas $10,869; DuPage $4,603; Edgar $26,116; Edward $7,423; Effingham $5,680; Fayette $3,975; Ford $1,885; Franklin $1,865; Fulton $38,861.

Living Our Everyday Lives

By Joseph Fort Newton
HAPPINESS A RIGHT?

Our fathers wrote a Declaration of Independence, in which they asserted that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and a pursuit of happiness.

Not happiness, but a pursuit of it, to happiness it would do us no good. Even if we had an inalienable right at all, because we could not enforce it, without making ourselves and others unhappy.

A highwayman of happiness—it would be an odd kind of bandit! Yet some of us, when we happen to be unhappy, as we often are, blame others for not doing their duty in making us happy betimes.

Our fathers were right, if rather rhetorical in what they affirmed in the brave days of old. Their insight was clear, and they did not put "the pursuit of happiness" at the tail of the sentence to round it off.

Life is an unqualified right, else it would not be given us. No man can originate life for himself. It comes from without inward, a gift of the Lord and Giver of life, and so must not be thrown away.

Liberty, too, is an inalienable right in a civilized society. It also comes from without inward; no man can create it for himself, assert it how he may. It is the result of social action, social agreement.

But happiness is different—no man can give it to us. It comes from within outward, or not at all. It is a spring, not a cistern. No power outside of our own souls can ever give us abiding happiness.

There is next to nothing about happiness in the Bible, except a passage which says that the happy man is he whom the Lord correcteth; and that is very far from what our notion of what happiness is.

The good Book uses the word joy—a deeper, richer word—meaning a sense of unity with the forces that make for righteousness. It says we can find joy in the midst of unhappiness, if we know how.

My point is that we have a right to pursue happiness, but the quest is futile until we lose our lives in that stream of goodness which was flowing before we were born, and will flow on after we are gone.

DO YOU AGREE?

Look up! It is when the earth is darkest that the stars are brightest, and we need not lose our way.

It is no good trying to purify the well of life by painting the pump; we must go deeper down to get clean water.

They miss most in life who grab at everything they can get hold of, because they are so afraid of missing something.

In case of inner conflict, use your mental gear-shift, put in your clutch, and get out of the heavy, wearing grind.

A flood of words is not always an evidence of a full mind—the ink flows most freely when the pen is nearly empty.

Lines of latitude and longitude are use, wrote a schoolboy, for when you are lost you know where you are.

We should read with the lamp behind us, letting the light of past experience shine on the uncertainty of tomorrow.

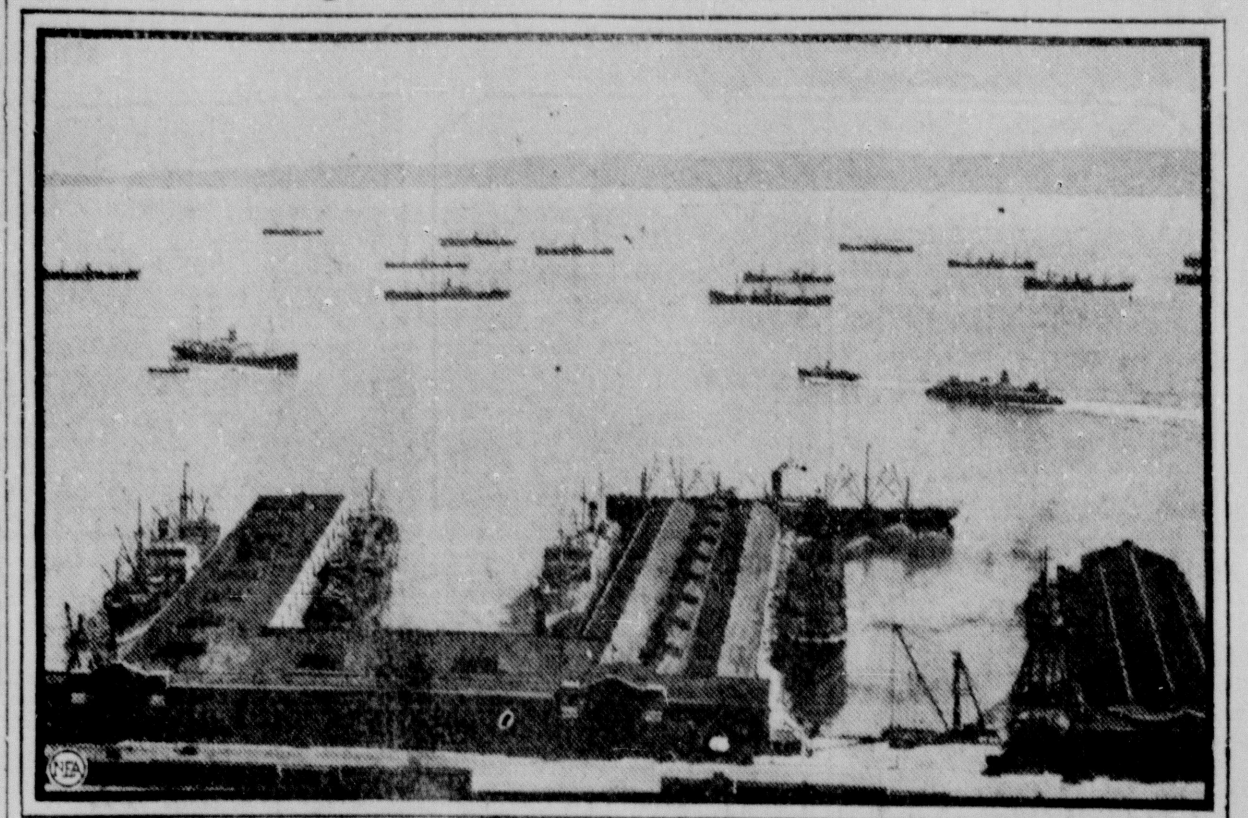

Every glance at our wrist watch ought to remind us that for the service of God and man we always have time on our hands.

Look fittings, it is said, and a striving for power rather than clarity, makes the troublesome clatter in loud speakers.

When we are jarred by an irritating note in others it may be only the faulty response of a string within us.

Paralysis Grips San Francisco Harbor in Dock Strike

More than 175 vessels are tied up, in idleness, in San Francisco's magnificent harbor, usually one of the world's busiest ports, while the longshoremen's strike paralyzes shipping. Stagnation that rules in the harbor is strikingly shown here, with derricks standing unused, turbines stilled, and ships lying at anchor as they have for nearly two months. Docks and piers are piled high with freight awaiting shipment, as federal mediators seek peace.

down the troubles of others, like a piece of sandpaper.

A seemingly small result is often worth all the labor—tons of crude matter are needed to yield a bit of radium.

Before saying that our conscience is clear, it is best to give it a good shaking up and then take another look at it.

When Chevrolet announced price reductions several weeks ago, something important happened... something of vital concern to every buyer of a low-priced car: Chevrolet stepped into the most favorable price position it has enjoyed in a long time!

Reductions amounting to as much as $50—the most substantial price cuts announced in the low-price field this year—dropped Chevrolet's base price to a new low figure of $465. Just compare this price—compare any Chevrolet price—with those of other cars. Then compare what you get for what you pay! There'll be no question in your mind which car to buy, once you do.

Chevrolet offers patented Knee-Action—and others do not! Chevrolet alone has a Fisher body! And the same thing applies to cable-controlled brakes, Y-K frame, shock-proof steering, and 80-horsepower, valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine. Chevrolet gives you far more features—far finer quality—a far better name for dependability. Yet the price of the Chevrolet Standard is lower than that of any other six or, of course, any eight in the world.

WHAT NEXT FOR ADOLF HITLER?

Chancellor Who Rose in Ten Years From Humble House Painter to Spectacular Power Sits on Hot Lid in Country Rent By Unrest, Ripe for Reign of Revolutionary Violence

In 1923, Adolf Hitler was an obscure Austrian house painter (1) just beginning to become prominent as an oratorical exponent of a modest "brown shirt" movement. His Brown Shirt membership began to grow as he continued feverish organization efforts with Josef Goebbels, as side (2). The movement spread, gained force, and 10 years later Hitler was replying to cheering tens of thousands from his Berlin hotel window (3). Scarcely more than 10 years from his modest beginning, this man was chancellor, and is shown (4) paying respects to venerable President von Hindenburg (right) attended by Herman Goering, another aide, now the premier of Prussia.

Late last year came an ill omen, when Hitler, laying the cornerstone for a new Munich building, broke the hammer (5) with which he was completing the ceremony. But early this year new heights were reached when 2,000,000 Germans pledged allegiance to Hitler's regime in a gigantic ceremony at Berlin's Tempelhof airport. (6). Only a few weeks ago, Hitler made a hurried flight to Venice for secret conferences with Benito Mussolini, Italian Fascist leader (7) and there, it is believed, he received some pointed advice from the Italian dictator. Today (8), victor over an insurgent faction, Adolf Hitler sits on the hot lid of a country that seethes with dissension and uncertainty.

ROCKETS VICTORIOUS

Brant's Rockets of Rock Falls defeated Princeton 8 to 2 in a league game before a large crowd at the Rock Falls diamond Tuesday night. The Rockets scored two runs in the first inning when they plunked out three singles in a row and were aided by an error. Two bases on balls and a double scored another run in the third. A base on balls, two singles and a double accounted for two more runs in the fourth. An error and a single produced another run in the fifth. In the eighth inning for good measure the Rockets scored two more runs on two hits and a base on balls.

With two men out in the second inning Princeton scored a run on a single and an error, and in the first of the ninth with one man down two singles and a walk accounted for another run.

Deets was on the mound for the Rockets and turned in a very good game. He struck out seven and allowed but six hits. Jennings started for Princeton but lasted but two innings, and was replaced by Trager, who struck out 10.

BENTON GROCER LUCKY WHEN HE BOUGHT PLATER

Indian Runner, Which Cost Owner $3,000; Wins Handicap

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago, July 5—(AP)—Two years ago D. A. Woods, a wholesale grocer from Benton, a town of 7,000 in the coal mining region of southern Illinois, purchased Indian Runner, a one-time broken down, crippled horse, for $3,000. Yesterday Indian Runner won the Stars and Stripes handicap and $10,750 at Arlington Park for the second consecutive year, bringing his total winnings to $45,000 and ranking him among the top three of the American handicap stars in performance.

The story behind this game five-year-old son of Dis Done II-Indian Maiden, with a heart as big as a house, reads like a tale from the Arabian nights.

In Claiming Race
Indian Runner was bred by Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., turfman who had his heart set on winning the Kentucky Derby of 1932. The colt failed to stand up under the rigors of training and went to pieces. It seemed that Indian Runner would be nothing more than an ordinary plater at best, so Headley dropped him into a cheap claiming race at Arlington Park that same year.

Owner Woods liked the looks of Indian Runner despite his previous condition, and bought him. He turned him out for a month, nursed him along, then brought him back to the races with the result that he broke the track record at Lincoln Fields in his first start. Since then he has had a monopoly in winning the handicap stakes in the west.

Came From Behind
In winning the Stars and Stripes yesterday Indian Runner came from behind to defeat the lightly weighted Advising Anna and out-finished Ladyman the recent conqueror of Equipoise. Besides winning the Stars and Stripes twice in a row, Indian Runner also won the inaugural handicap at Arlington Park two years in succession. Indian Runner is the only horse Woods owns. The daddy, Dis Done II, died only three days ago at the

TRIO OF TIPS ON PLAYING OUT OF THE ROUGH

DON'T ATTEMPT TO HIT BALL WITH SWEEPING-STROKE THAT WILL BE STOPPED BY HEAVY GRASS.

When in the rough there are three things to remember. One of them is to keep cool and relax a little more than usual. Another is to try to bring the clubhead down sharply on the ball, making no attempt to hit with a sweeping stroke which will be stopped by the thick grass. The third concerns a lie that is very heavy. It is far safer to shoot straight out on the fairway, where you have a possible chance of reaching the green with the next stroke, than to waste useless effort in the rough.

California Youth is New National Decathlon Champ

Cincinnati, July 5—(AP)—A personable young man from the Pacific coast today is the new national decathlon champion of the A. A. U.

He is Robert Clark, who runs, pole vaults and does a number of other things while wearing the colors of the Olympic club, San Francisco.

He bettered Jim Bausch's 1932 Olympic record in five of the ten events, which closed yesterday, but his total score, despite a sensational start that gave promise of establishing a new high mark, was considerably lower than Bausch's. Clark tallied 7955.050, while the Olympic games mark set by Bausch was 8462.23.

Joe Hall, Tallahassee, Fla., was second, with 7488.890, and R. Baldry, a running mate of Clark's from the Golden Gate, was third with 7401.180.

ILLINOIS CORN GROWING WELL; STATE REPORT

Best of Crop Is Waist High, Beginning to Tassel Out

Springfield, Ill., July 5—(AP)—Illinois corn made "excellent growth" during the week ending July 3, the department of agriculture announced today in its weekly weather and crop bulletin.

"The best corn," the report states, "is waist high, laid by, and beginning to tassel. There were scattered replantings during the week. Corn is being damaged by chinch bugs, but considerable efforts are being made to control the insects, and rainfall was sufficient in some localities to check their activities; however, they have now reached the flying stage.

"Winter wheat harvest is beginning in the extreme north, and threshing is under way in the central and south; yields and quality are extremely variable as a result of drought conditions and chinch bug damage.

"Oats improved in a few localities, though the crop is mostly very short. Soy beans and cow peas are doing well and plantings of those crops continue."

Temperatures, the report said, had been "unseasonably high" during the first four days of the week, and the high marks reached in many areas exceeded the previous extremes recorded in June. Showers during the week were light to moderate in amount only a few scattered localities receiving rains of an inch or more.

FEDERAL REPORT

Washington, July 5—(AP)—A continued deficiency of rainfall over the great plains and in the southwest was reported today by the weather bureau.

The weekly statement of conditions said showers during the past week were beneficial in the north-east, Atlantic coast states, Appalachian mountain region, eastern Ohio valley and parts of the lakes region, but "high temperatures in the interior, in the absence of extensive rains of material importance, took a heavy toll of the scanty soil moisture."

Cultivated crops were "progressing satisfactorily," but pastures were still blighted and in the southwest "even most cultivated crops" were suffering.

Rain was badly needed in eastern Montana, most of the Dakotas, southern Minnesota, part of Iowa, Missouri, northern and western Arkansas, and from Nebraska southward and southwestward."

Importance of Education

Education is of vital importance to every modern country, and it is entirely possible that the competitive power of the great industrial nations will, in the near future, depend on the soundness of their educational systems.

ALFALFA BILL'S CHOICE SECOND IN OKLA. VOTE

Representative Marland Leads in Primary for Nomination

Oklahoma City, July 5—(AP)—Rep. E. W. Marland, former oil millionaire, and Tom Anglin, Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's choice for the next governor of Oklahoma, squared off today in a short campaign before the run-off primary July 24.

Marland, whose belated campaign was featured by the slogan: "Bring the new deal back to Oklahoma," led the field of 15 candidates seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination on the basis of incomplete returns from Tuesday's primary election. Failure of Anglin to win by a clear majority, brought this comment from Governor Murray: "I've often said that men would take a cussing or a cold or a rail off your fence, but would not take good advice. They (the voters) refused my advice."

With reports from 2894 of the 3352 precincts in the state Marland had 130,858 votes; Anglin, 83,002 and Jack Walton, who once was impeached as governor of the state, 70,965.

The apparently magical appeal of the name Will Rogers to Oklahoma voters sent his owner, former Moore schoolmaster and present congressman, far into the lead in the race for congressman-at-large. With him in the runoff apparently will be Henry S. Johnston, like Walton, a deposed governor.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 When HOWARD JACKSON, young geology professor, comes to Marburg JANE TERRY, the prettiest girl in town, determines to win his heart. Howard, however, falls in love with AMY LOWE, Jane's best friend. Jane, into an engagement and, when this fails, leaves for New York, declaring she will never return. She enrolls in a secretarial school and later becomes private secretary to the president of the Kandel Real Estate company. She meets ROGER THORPE, head of the company's real department, who shows her attentions. Amy and Howard are married. They make their home in a neighborhood for a year. Then Howard is hired to teach in the college at Marburg and goes back to Jane. Miss ROSA TERRY, Jane's aunt, comes to see Amy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 CHAPTER XII
 MISS ROSA said slowly, "Jane never made it up with you?" "She's never written me except one letter," Amy told her. "Just after she left. I hoped she was having too good a time."

Miss Rosa settled herself for oration. "I reckon I was wrong about Jane, Amy, always thinking she was lazy and conceited and pig-headed and troublesome. Evidently all she needed was another environment. She's doing very well, very well, indeed. Works for a big real estate firm and makes close to $50 a week, and against my better judgment she's taken herself an apartment and has a maid, and gets along all right. The head man—he's named Kandel—seems to think a lot of her ability. Jane's a real business woman. She doesn't write to me very often, but I keep tabs on her a little, other ways. I feel I ought to."

"Don't you think she'll ever come home? I miss her."

"Oh, I daresay if the notion struck her she might come, but I've seen no signs of it yet."

After Miss Rosa left, Amy seemed no help for it. Jane was out of her life and she must accept the loss. She would like so much to see Jane as a business woman. She wished her unending success. "She'll have it, too," she thought. "Jane was always clever, and there was a strength in her under her wild ideas and foolishness. Oh, I do hope she does wonderful things. I do hope so."

BEFORE the house was entirely ready for it, Amy's furniture arrived, and then began a tedious follow-up process, taking room by room as soon as she could get the workmen out and putting that room in order, then closing the door against dust and dirt.

She had been busy all day in the house, and had got the living room in order and was walking slowly home with her sewing bag swinging on her arm when, as she turned the first corner, she saw coming toward her a young woman so fashionably dressed as to be unfamiliar to Marburg and yet was—it couldn't be, but it was—

"Jane!" she cried. "Oh—Jane!"

For a flicker of a second she wasn't sure that Jane was going to speak, but she did and put out her hand as to a stranger. "Oh—It's Amy!" she said in a high clear voice without expression. But Amy's welcome tumbled out: "But I'm so glad to see you. When did you come? Miss Rosa told me the other day you never came back to Marburg—Jane, dear—you look so stunning, you're simply gorgeous!"

Jane liked that. She had been struggling with her own feelings. She had meant not to see Amy, or speak to her, but now that Amy had, as it were, seized her and was so open in her admiration, Jane was rather pleased. Besides Amy had on a gingham work dress that was neither new nor fresh. Jane could condescend. "What are you doing yourself?" she asked. "I just came down for the night. Aunt Rosa didn't expect me. I came on business. Nobody told me you were in town."

"But I'm going to live here now, in Miss Rachel Booth's old house. I haven't moved in yet. I've been working there all day getting it straight. Oh, Jane, come back and look at it. It's going to be so sweet. I'd love you to see it."

AMY became subtly aware that Jane had known all the time of her coming back to Marburg and where she was going to live, and also that Jane was enjoying the contrast between her own appearance and Amy's. But it didn't matter much for here was Jane and they were walking and talking together. And Jane was all right—all right, only different—hardly perhaps and ungettable, but certainly not unhappy.

"Miss Rosa told me how wonderfully you've succeeded, Jane. She says you make heaps of money and have an apartment and look—right in here. The work in the hall isn't quite finished, but the living room is, I did it today. Amy hung upon the door.

Jane hesitated: "Is there anyone there?" she asked and Amy knew that Jane was afraid Howard might be there. She didn't want to say his name. So perhaps she wasn't quite so splendid and carefree as she seemed at first.

"There's no one," said Amy, and went in ahead, Jane following.

"It's rather nice," said Jane, after a pause. "A pity you haven't grasscloth on the walls instead of that paper. I have a sort of natural grasscloth in my apartment. It makes a wonderful background for pictures, and it has an interesting texture. I have silk curtains, not scrim. And I've picked up some prints and etchings and some good old bits of brass and copper."

"It must be lovely," said Amy. "Do you live all alone or—"

Jane swung round at her sharply. "Yes, I do. Of course I have my maid. But it's only the provincial mind that sees anything wrong in a self-supporting woman living alone in these days."

"I was only asking for information. It certainly never occurred to me that there should be anything wrong about it, Jane. Don't twist my words." Jane stormed on: "What no one here appreciates is that there's an entirely new era begun for women. They're free to choose their work, to live their lives as they want to. Marriage is only one of many possible careers and one of the least desirable. A woman has a right to bear children if she wants to outside of marriage."

AMY felt far more at home with Jane than she had with Howard. "Oh stuff," she said. "Every child has the right to the protection of the ordinary civilized conventions. A woman may do as she pleases about marrying, but she certainly shouldn't bring a child into the world for its shame and dishonor. Children don't ask to be born. They're helpless."

"Of course you'd think that simply because you've always refused to go with the times." Amy suddenly wanted to laugh at the absurdity of arguing with Jane on the subject of feminism at practically the first moment of their meeting.

"You're like Aunt Rosa," went on Jane vehemently. "The reason I came is because I intend to make her give up my inheritance, so that I can do something on my own. It's wicked for her to be managing that money when I could double it, over and over again—but she doesn't believe a woman knows anything about business, anything at all, the old idiot! I'm losing chances after chances!" she quivered herself suddenly. She had not meant to tell anyone this. "And heavens," she said, "I must hurry back. She's going to have the lawyer come up. So nice to see you, Amy, and your new house."

Amy caught her arm. "Jane," she cried, "don't go like this. I've missed you so. Dear Jane—can't we be friends again?" But she knew it was useless to ask. Jane had turned to stone. Jane had not forgotten or forgiven.

"Goodbye," said Jane. "I must go. I—I've nothing to say to you—I didn't want to see you at all." She started away.

But Amy ran after her. "Remember, Jane dear," she cried, "remember, I am always your friend. If there's ever anything in the world I can do for you, I will."

At these words another Jane looked at Amy, a Jane whose eyes were full of doubt and fear, a lonely frightened Jane who wanted kindness and help as in the years gone by Amy had seen this Jane before at times when she had been slighted or laughed at or neglected by the other children, or when she had done something reckless and daring that needed pardon. This was the Jane Amy had always been so quick to champion, to defend, to comfort. But the glimpse of this other Jane lasted only an instant, was so brief that Amy almost doubted that she had seen it. All she now saw was the smart slim brown-clad figure walking swiftly and decisively away from her as from a stranger. (Copyright, 1934, by Sophie Kerr) (To Be Continued)

KEY WEST, FLA. GIVES UP ALL RULE TO STATE

Stranded By Shift of Industry, City Cannot Carry On

Key West, Fla., July 5—(AP)—This picturesque city, at the southernmost tip of the United States, has declared a state of emergency because of economic adversities and called on the state and federal governments for a "new deal."

Left stranded by a gradual shift of trade and industry, Key West and its county, Monroe, adopted resolutions surrendering all their legal powers to Governor Dave Sholtz. They are the first to do so in the history of Florida.

More Than Half Idle
 More than half the population is unemployed.

The Governor was asked to take charge and in turn he requested the Federal Emergency Relief Administration to accept "the responsibility necessarily arising." Julius S. Stone, Jr., Florida administrator, and the Governor will confer at Jacksonville tomorrow.

Once the largest city in Florida, Key West has slowly lost ground in recent years, a population of 18,749 inhabitants in 1920 dwindling to 12,812 in 1930.

The emergency resolutions declared that due to the unemployment and consequent financial distress "both the city and the county are unable to carry on the functions of government, leaving the population in a dependent and distressed condition."

FIGURES GROW LARGER IN U. S. BANKERS' BOOKS

Gain in Deposits Indicated by Latest Bank Reports

Washington, July 5—(AP)—The figures in America's bank book are growing larger.

As bank statements began appearing in response to the June 30 call of the Comptroller and the Federal Reserve Board, officials predicted today that they would show an important gain in deposits over the last tabulation.

The total, though, will remain far below the prosperity levels of 1929. All bank deposits—including state institutions not subject to the Federal Reserve system's calls—stood at $38,846,000,000 on December 30, compared with a 1929 peak of $55,289,000,000.

The difference of about $17,000,000,000 represents bank credit which has been liquidated. When business activity creates more bank credit, deposits will be correspondingly built up.

More actual money is in America's pockets today than during the boom years. The amount in circulation on June 27 was $5,301,000,000, whereas it was but $3,000,000,000 during most of 1928 and 1929.

SETTLEMENT OF GERMAN-BRITISH DEBTS REACHED

Immediately Uncle Sam Demands Equality with Britons

London, July 5.—(AP)—British financial quarters welcomed with relief and satisfaction today the settlement of a debt arrangement with Germany.

Under the agreement reached yesterday Germany will pay interest on Dawes and Young loan bonds held by British subjects, despite its recent moratorium.

A threatened trade war was averted by the agreement. Other long and medium term obligations held by the Britons will not be serviced during the six months moratorium.

The Times expressed belief the agreement in some way would rehabilitate German credit which "has been quite unnecessarily impaired and would be fatally damaged if Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, persisted in his earlier intentions."

Nevertheless, the paper does not think it goes very far in restoring confidence in Germany's financial future.

"Unless during the agreements six months of currency," the Times said, "something is done to reverse policies which have led to the present impasse, there can be little hope of any substantial rehabilitation of Germany's credit."

U. S. WANTS EQUALITY

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—The United States will demand that Germany give Americans an even break with Britons in the payment of debts.

This became known today as the official reaction to news that the Reich has agreed to pay interest for at least six months on Dawes and Young loan bonds held by British subjects.

About $1,500,000,000 of German obligations are held in this country. Authoritative sources said a new note asking equality may be dispatched to the Reich. If no note is sent, diplomatic conversations to that end are expected to be pressed.

Britain's threat to seize German commercial funds in England was considered potent. But the United States enjoys a "favorable" balance of trade with Germany. That is, Germans buy more from Americans than Americans buy from Germans.

No Trade War

Any idea that the United States would follow the British way of retaliation therefore died aborning because this country stood a chance of coming off second best in any trade war with Germany.

Germany's announcement of a moratorium on interest payments last month drew a quick protest from the United States. Equal treatment was demanded both in a note to the Reich and in conversations between President Roosevelt and Dr. Hans Luther, the German Ambassador.

State department officials pointed out that the agreements under which the bonds were issued called for the same treatment for all nations.

Secretary Hull has told Germany that some of her policies can be considered to blame in part, for her economy plight.

U. S. PRIDES ITSELF ON BEING LUSTY YOUNG NATION, BUT ITS GOVERNMENT IS ONE OF OLDEST IN WORLD

By NEA Service—

Washington, July 5, 1934.—Wednesday the United States of America celebrated its 158th birthday.

And in the 158 years that have passed since that hot July of 1776 when Americans took their lives and fortunes in their hands and told the world they were cutting loose on their own, governments all over the world have come and gone.

Today, America, accustomed to think of itself as a young nation, finds its government one of the oldest in the world.

England whose Parliament was first summoned in 1265, has continued down the years depending increasingly on that one ruling body—nearly 670 years. And for nearly 500 years before that she was groping toward representative government.

So Great Britain gets the palm for age. Little Liechtenstein, which assumed its present form in 1719, is one of the few other governments that are older than our republic.

OLD FORMS FALL—

Old countries, yes, far older than the United States.

But time has rung changes in them all. China, often considered the cradle of the race and the oldest civilization, became a republic only in 1912. The present Nanking government was established only in 1928.

Japan, ancient though her dynasty was founded in 660 B. C. (legend says), saw this power restored to the throne only in 1868, when the Shogun power was overthrown. So the present empire is really only a youngster.

Time-tempered Greece herself adopted a new constitution in 1927 giving one of the oldest peoples one of the youngest of governments.

Spain and Portugal were ancient even when their explorers came to help open the new continent of America, but Spain only three years ago came around to the republican form of government, overthrowing one of the most ancient monarchies. And Portugal's present constitution was adopted only last year, the youngest governmental baby of all.

With the World War's end, a whole crop of new governments appeared on the scene. Russia, Germany, Turkey, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Danzig, Austria, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Finland. All these today have governments less than 20 years old.

We think of France as a sister republic dating from our own time but it is not strictly so. The present French republic is the third, with revolutionary breaks between them, and was established only on the overthrow of Napoleon III in 1870, making her only 64 years old.

NEW RULE IN ITALY—

Italy still operates nominally under the Constitution she won in 1848, but received what amounts to a new government when Mussolini's Blackshirts marched on Rome in 1923.

Our nearest neighbors are both younger than we. Canada received her present form of government by royal proclamation in 1867. And Mexico, though she started off on her own in 1821, has had innumerable revolutions, and got her present constitution in 1917.

Practically all our neighbors of South America won their independence in the middle of the last century, 50 years and more after the formation of the United States of America, and most of them have changed governments many times since.

SWISS DATE ONLY TO 1874—

Switzerland immediately comes to mind as an old and tied democracy, and it is true that the sturdy mountain men have been in a continuous state of developing their democracy since 1291, a matter of 643 years. Yet their present constitution was adopted only in 1874.

Denmark is an example of a very old monarchy, but the present succession to the throne was established only in 1853.

Today, looking back on 158 years of "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," America may reflect that her sys-

FATHER O'HARA IS NOTRE DAME PRESIDENT NOW

Succeeds Fr. O'Donnell Who Died a Month Ago

South Bend, Ind., July 5.—(AP)—The Rev. John F. O'Hara, C. S. C., today sat in the president's chair at the University of Notre Dame.

Father O'Hara, who entered the university 25 years ago as a student, succeeds the late Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell who died a month ago following a long illness.

Elected yesterday by the provincial council of the congregation of the Holy Cross, Father O'Hara moves up from the post of vice president and acting president of the university.

He was appointed Prefect of Religion in 1917, in which post he succeeded Father O'Donnell and he served as dean of the School of Commerce.

Commerce O'Hara is eligible for two terms of three years each as president of the university.

Young Astor's Aunt Denies He's Richest Youth in America

Newport, R. I., July 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, aunt of John Jacob Astor, 3rd, who recently married Ellen Tuck French, (today, in denying reports that Astor would invest in a "million dollar" race stable, also took occasion to deny what she described as other "exaggerated" descriptions of his wealth.

After asserting that the report he would invest a million dollars in horses was "absolutely without foundation," Mrs. Spencer said that reports that the boy was the richest in America were also "untrue."

She said he was left a $3,000,000 trust fund by his father, the late Col. John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, whereas his half-brother, Vincent, was left $600,000 outright.

She also said that the report that he received a million dollars in wedding gifts was "ridiculous." The gifts, she said, were "very modest."

Last Farewell

Eyes closed and fist tightly clenched, George Shaughnessy bids farewell forever to his foster-mother, Mrs. Stella Shaughnessy, as they stand in the death cell doorway in Arizona prison. Shaughnessy, 19, former Albany, N. Y., military student, will die in the gas chamber July 13 for murdering a Tucson auto dealer.

TEACHERS ARE URGED NOT TO LOOSE BALANCE

Am. Legion Official in Plea Against New Social Order

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—An American Legion spokesman urged teachers of America today not to become "propagandists" for "a new social order."

A few hours earlier, the same teachers had heard an NRA speaker urge them to step into the "laboratories of social experimentation."

Russell Cook of Indianapolis, director of the Legion's Americanism Commission, told the National Education Association:

"In the last few years too many of our teachers are creating ideas in the school room for what is called a new social order."

"The American Legion is opposed to that movement. We say that it is not the mission of the teacher to lead the child into believing we should have a new social order, but that it is his mission to educate the child so that it can take its proper place in whatever social order exists when it comes to maturity."

Cook declared the teacher's duty is not to interpret issues.

Last night the teachers heard former Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado, an NRA official who is pinch-hitting for Hugh S. Johnson, say that they should not hesitate to take any subject into the economics classroom, no matter where the discussion led.

Another speaker, Milo L. Whitaker of the Northern Illinois State Teachers College, advocated better education to achieve "social reform."

BANK WAS SOLVENT

Springfield.—(AP)—Officers of the Fond Du Lac State Bank of East Peoria filed a bill for an injunction in Circuit Court asking that receivership of the institution be withheld pending further investigation of the bank's books. They charged the bank was solvent when a receiver was appointed June 30.
